

One Tool. Multiple Benefits. Exponential Results.

Prodoscore analyzes data from your core productivity tools (i.e. Office Suite, CRM, UCaaS) to deliver Actionable Analytics™ that create visibility, support flexibility, and ensure accountability.

“During the first part of the COVID-19 pandemic, we had no idea how we would develop a way to monitor productivity for remote employees....but Prodoscore, from the start, was able to pull data from a few months prior and showed us how employees were managing their time at home. Some people would start the day great, but by noon nothing. With that visibility, we were able to make informed decisions.”

Matt Harward
IT Manager, Prime Corporate Services

Impact to Business

Flexibility

To retain talent, organizations will have to support flexibility. All the data suggests that being in a physical office does not result in productivity - it's about the person, not the place. With unbiased insights, leaders can make decisions about workforce planning, coaching, and growth, and build confidence in their teams to support employees' unique needs.

Accountability

Flexibility isn't possible without accountability. Leaders want to empower their teams to work the way it makes sense for them but they can only be confident if there's some level of accountability. When tough decisions need to be made, how do you know who needs to be coached up and who needs to be coached out? Accountability can help.

Visibility

Visibility supports flexibility and creates accountability. A lack of visibility can lead to bad outcomes. With a clear understanding of how employees work each day, leaders gain actionable insights into engagement and productivity in order to make better informed decisions, rooted in data.